Nicole Malick is a litigator whose practice includes intellectual property disputes, class actions, and other complex commercial matters.

Nicole represents clients in a diverse range of industries, including defending a fashion company against copyright infringement allegation, enforcing an automotive company's design patent rights, and defending a technology company in a false advertising class action. She has resolved several threatened and pending false advertising class actions against dietary supplement companies and secured dismissal of all claims against a biotech startup founder in a patent infringement suit.

Nicole is actively involved in pro bono work, regularly assisting clients seeking to clean their criminal records. In her spare time, she enjoys trying and recommending restaurants, playing tennis, and traveling. She also speaks conversational French.
